

Online Resources

- AFS-USA Website – <http://www.afsusa.org>
Public face of AFS-USA. This is an excellent place to send interested students, families and educators to find out more information about AFS programs and opportunities.
- Global Link - <https://usa.afsglobal.org/AFSGlobal/default.aspx>
Main database for AFS-USA and contains participant, volunteer and school information. Online participant and host family applications can be found here as well. The Resource Section of Global Link contains many helpful tools such as online tutorials and Everyone Ready an online volunteer management training program. This is a secure website that is accessible only to AFS-USA staff and registered volunteers.
- AFS Wiki - <http://www.afswiki.org>
The AFS Wiki is the main resource for all AFS-USA information and most pages in AFS Wiki are open to the public. Registered volunteers can request a password for private pages, or access to create Wiki content. Much like a library, the Wiki houses information on every facet of the organization from the volunteer structure to volunteer position descriptions to the standards and procedures for all our programs. If you have a question about AFS, the AFS Wiki most likely will have the answer.
